

Clinical Assistant Professor Department of Occupational Therapy

The Department of Occupational Therapy, College of Public Health and Health Professions at the University of Florida, invites applications for a full-time (1.0 FTE), 12-month non-tenure track Clinical Assistant Professor position. The successful applicant will serve as fieldwork coordinator for the occupational therapy program, and also engage in teaching, research, and service activities as assigned. As fieldwork coordinator, this position will be responsible for coordination of Doctor of Occupational Therapy and Master of Occupational Therapy student fieldwork, Doctor of Occupational Therapy residencies including procuring sites and communicating with students, faculty, fieldwork educators, and residency site mentors.

Applicants must have a relevant doctoral degree and be licensed/license-eligible as an occupational therapist in the state of Florida. At least 3 years of clinical experience in pediatrics, adult rehabilitation, or mental health is essential. The ideal applicant will have experience teaching in an occupational therapy graduate program and prior fieldwork coordinator experience.

The Department of Occupational Therapy (<http://ot.php.ufl.edu/>) is a national leader in occupational therapy education and research. The department has active research programs in the areas of driving rehabilitation and community mobility, and learning disabilities, as well as outstanding academic and training programs that include an entry level Masters in Occupational Therapy program, a Doctor of Occupational Therapy program to start in Fall 2018, and a Ph.D. in Rehabilitation Science program. The department is a leader in the NIH-funded K12 Rehabilitation Research Career Development consortium and is home to the Florida Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation; Institute for Mobility, Activity and Participation; and the Center for Research on Telehealth and Assistive Technology.

The University of Florida is a comprehensive doctoral research-extensive university that includes a full range of academic departments and programs (www.ufl.edu). It has a long history of established programs in international education, research and service and is one of only 17 public, land-grant universities that belong to the Association of American Universities. The College of Public Health and Health Professions is part of the University's Health Science Center, which also includes the Colleges of Medicine, Pharmacy, Nursing, Dentistry, and Veterinary Medicine and provides a wealth of opportunities for research collaborations.

To view the job posting online and submit an application packet, which includes a CV, letter of interest, and list of references, please go to <http://explore.jobs.ufl.edu/cw/en-us/listing/> and search by Job#503288. Application deadline is August 28, 2017.

The University of Florida is an equal opportunity institution dedicated to building a broadly diverse and inclusive faculty and staff. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the US. Searches are conducted in accordance with Florida's Sunshine Law.